VIII. A spiritual leader of a community in a state 'A' was guilty of causing communal violence in that state. Before his arrest he fled to a neighbour's state 'B'. State 'A' initiated extradition of the leader. Will the state succeed.

IX. Slavania has passed a national legislation, which authorizes the President of Slavania to give monetary and other support to a rebel guerilla group in neighbouring Paktonia. The group is using force to overthrow the existing government of Paktonia. Slavania is a member of U.N. and other treaties banning intervention in other states. A Slavonian national X has approached the Supreme Court of Slavania for a writ/direction against the President of Slavania, stopping the President to aid the neighbouring rebels. X argues before the court, that the Slavonian legislation is contrary to international law, customary, conventional and UN charter. He also argues that Slavania is bound to protect and promote human rights ordained by UN charter. As a judge of the Supreme Court of Slavania, how will you decide the petition? Cite your position by focussing upon customary and conventional international law and international human rights law.
